

Cle Elum-Roslyn, Washington

Cascade Prevention Coalition (CPC)

Cascade Prevention
Coalition
2690 State Route 903
Cle Elum, WA 98922

Jessika Roe
509.962.9775
jessika.roe@kccn.org

The mission of the Cascade Prevention Coalition is to engage our community to prioritize factors which reduce the likelihood of children and youth being at risk; to direct and provide oversight and vision for the community members, families, and youth; to promote a safe and wholesome place to live, work, and play for the youth of today and tomorrow.

What is the Prevention Redesign Initiative and how will it help my community?

- PRI Communities face complex challenges, such as higher than average rates of academic failure, economic deprivation and substance abuse. PRI funding helps communities improve the health of their youth, families and community.
- Cle Elum means “Swift Water” in the language of the Kittitas Indians. Cole was first noted in Roslyn in 1883. Workers came from Italy, Poland, Germany, Lithuania, Slovenia, Serbia, Croatia and the British Isles to work the mines. Many of Roslyn’s residents are descendants of these immigrants.
- The communities of Cle Elum and Roslyn are located in Upper Kittitas County.
- According to the 2010 Healthy Youth Survey, underage drinking and perceptions of risk associated with underage drinking are a problem in Cle Elum and Roslyn. 40% of 12th graders say they’ve drunk at least once in the last month. 65% of 10th graders say they have friends who drink. 82% of 8th graders say police don’t enforce underage drinking laws.
- The goals of the Cascade Prevention Coalition are to increase prevention leadership in Upper Kittitas County, reduce alcohol availability to youth, increase consistent enforcement of policy and regulations related to underage drinking, decrease number of friends who use and increase positive family management practices.

About the Coalition:

The Cascade Prevention Coalition began in fall of 2011. Since that time many Cle Elum and Roslyn key leaders and volunteers have become members and work hard to make a difference in our community.

PRI Contacts

County Contact:

Name:
Phone:
Email:

ESD/Contact:

ESD 105
Susan Martin
509.454.3127
susan.martin@esd105.org

Community Coordinator:

Jessika Roe
509.962.9775
jessika.roe@kccn.org

Kittitas County, WA

What types of prevention programs will be available?

- The Cascade Prevention Coalition (CPC) works to increase prevention leadership in Cle Elum and Roslyn, offers Strengthening Families 10-14 classes, supports the Safe Homes Network, and continues to work to reduce alcohol availability to youth and develop healthy youth activities in Upper Kittitas County.
- The CPC partners include the Cle Elum School District, ESD 105, and the Kittitas County Community Network & Coalition. The CPC is funded by the Division of Behavioral Health and Recovery.
- The CPC can use your support promoting substance abuse prevention, strengthening family communication, as well as providing youth with healthy activities and safe environments. Join the coalition today!
- The CPC Assessment Team regularly evaluates the prevention needs of Upper Kittitas County to insure that the work of the coalition is pertinent to our ever-changing community.

Cle Elum-Roslyn Statistics

Population: 7,379

Ethnic Diversity: 94.0% .White

2.5% Two or more races

1.2% American Indian/Alaska Native

1.0% Other Race

0.9% Asian

0.4% Black

Median Income: $36,35

Zoning: Rural

Cascade Prevention Coalition Founded: 2011

