Glover Teixeira takes on Jiri Prochazka for the Light Heavyweight Championship, while it's Valentina Shevchenko vs. Thalia Santos for the women's flyweight belt. All eyes will also be on Zhang Weili vs. Joanna Jedrzejczyk, with the Zhang vs. Joanna 2 matchup seeing the women meeting for the first time since Zhang took the win by split decision at UFC 248.

The action all goes down this Saturday live from Singapore. Here's what to know about the UFC 275 card as well as where to find a UFC 275 live stream to watch the fights online.

UFC 275 takes place this Saturday, June 11 with the action streaming live from Singapore Indoor Stadium in Kallang, Singapore. This is the first international PPV event to take place outside of Abu Dhabi since UFC 243 in October 2019.

The UFC 275 main card starts at 10pm ET / 7 pm PT. The prelims start at 8pm ET / 5pm PT, and the early prelims begin at 6:15pm ET / 3:15pm PT.

UFC Women's Flyweight champion Valentina Shevchenko is looking to set a new record while she defends her title. She's entering the PPV with six consecutive title defenses, which is the most by a female champion. Except she shares this achievement with one Ronda Rousey, who is off in the land of pro wrestling.

As for odds: DraftKings(opens in new tab) has Prochazka as a favorite at -200 (wager $200 to win $100), and Teixeira at +170 (wager $100 to win $170). Shevchenko is an overwhelming favorite to win at -630 (over Santos' +450).

Here's everything you need to know about UFC 275 live streams, including the recent changes to the main card and prelims.

Light Heavyweight champion, Glover Teixeira, will attempt to kick Father Time in the groin once more when the 42-year-old battle axe locks horns with No. 2-ranked knockout artist, Jiri Prochazka, in the pay-per-view (PPV) main event of UFC 275, which takes place inside Singapore Indoor Stadium in Kallang, Singapore, this weekend (Sat., June 11, 2022). In the co-main event, dominant women's Flyweight queenpin, Valentina Shevchenko, collides with No. 5-ranked contender, Taila Santos, while Joanna Jedrzejczyk and Zhang Weili will run back their epic 2020 "Fight of the Year" one bout prior.

Before all the face-punching can begin, though, the fighters have promotional responsibilities, the first of which is the official "Media Day," which will begin promptly in the video player above at approximately 12 a.m. ET tonight (technically, Weds., June 8, 2022).

For those in "The Lion City" the event will take place inside Oriental Ballroom, which is located on the ground floor of the Mandarin Oriental. However, UFC 275 media day is closed to the public so you can't get inside ... but nothing says you can't wait outside to see the stars of the show.werq
